Agency for kids celebrates 15 years

The three who have chaired First 5 Yolo since its inception: Former State Assembly Member, former Yolo County Supervisor and the second First 5 Yolo Chair Helen Thomson; State Senator and original First 5 Yolo Chair Lois Wolk; and Yolo County Supervisor and current First 5 Yolo Chair Don Saylor

The camaraderie and sense of accomplishment were apparent as commissioners, agency representatives, nonprofit executives, and community advocates for children came together for a small celebration Friday morning, November 15th in Woodland to mark the 15th anniversary of First 5 Yolo.

"It was such a privilege to serve as the original chair of First 5 Yolo," said Senator Wolk. She served as chair of the Children and Families Commission, from 1999 until 2002. "All the good that First 5 Yolo has accomplished for the health, wellbeing and development of infants, toddlers, and preschoolers in Yolo County over the past 15 years is the result of the collaborative efforts of dedicated commissioners, a strong staff, a partnership with the county and local nonprofits, and the voters of California, who approved Proposition 10 in 1998."

Research shows that investment in a child's development in the first five years has a meaningful impact throughout life. The First 5 money from the Proposition 10 tobacco tax builds on this research, and has routed nearly $2 million a year, for a 15 year total of $26.5 million, into Yolo County; investing in the futures of the county's youngest children.

Through partnerships and collaborations with other local organizations, First 5 Yolo investments have enabled tens of thousands of families and children to receive needed medical and dental care, fresh food, preschool opportunities, library reading programs, parenting classes, home visits and other valuable services.

Some of the outcomes and successes celebrated Friday at First 5 Yolo include more than 3,000 West Sacramento children attended preschool at no cost; a 65 percent increase in early learning activities at the Yolo County Library; more than double the number of licensed foster parents in Yolo County — now at 80; and thousands of subsidized dental visits for young children and pregnant women.

A place to plug it in

West Sacramento mayor Christopher Cabaldon connects an electric car in front of the media on Thursday. He was using the brand-new charging station behind city hall, 1110 West Capitol Avenue. The mayor — and most of the local officials who shared the podium with him at the event — owns an electric car.

West Sacramento Mayor Christopher Cabaldon joined Chief Technical Officer Richard Lowenthal of ChargePoint and other local officials on Thursday to cut the ribbon at a new charging station for electric vehicles (EVs). The new station is in the parking lot at West Sacramento city hall.

It's the 250th such station owned by ChargePoint in the Sacramento area, and joins more than 14,000 other locations in the company's international network.

"The Sacramento region is making great strides in electric vehicle adoption, and as an EV owner, Mayor Cabaldon is leading by example," said Lowenthal. "Today's installation at City Hall will not only benefit city residents and city workers, but it will help the surrounding businesses attract EV drivers as well."

ChargePoint reports that the region is home to almost 2,000 owners of EVs — more than triple the number from last year.

"While this is our first city owned EV charging station, it is certainly not our last," said Mayor Cabaldon. "Electric vehicles make sense — they are green, fun to drive, save money, reduce commute times with access to HOV lanes, and are good for business. Along with ChargePoint, West Sacramento is prepared to lead the way and promote widespread adoption of EVs throughout the region."

"This is a win-win-win for West Sacramento," said Denise Seals, President/CEO of the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. "By installing the ChargePoint station at City Hall we reduce greenhouse gas emissions, provide EV charging for city workers and visitors, and we create an added incentive to shop at our local businesses."

The station was installed at ChargePoint's expense, a city spokesman told the News-Ledger.

The charging station is located next to a couple of specially-marked spaces in the city hall parking lot. For now, anyone with an electric vehicle and a free account can use it.

"The location is perfect — during the day, city workers and residents can use the station, while at night students, staff and faculty (from Sacramento City College across the street) can be charging their vehicles," said Beverly Sandeen, Vice Chancellor of the Los Rios Community College District. (visit www.chargepoint.com).

The City of West Sacramento and ChargePoint contributed to this report.

POLICE LOG

News items below are collected from police dispatchers' notes and arrest reports. The information in them has often not been verified beyond the initial reports.

Nov. 10, 7 a.m.

A business on Duluth Street was found burglarized.

Nov. 10, 10:35 a.m.

A thief took a 27-year old homeless man's backpack — and ripped out his IV — in a robbery on River Walk Park.

Nov. 12, 5:30 p.m.

Security personnel at a Town Center Plaza department store recognized a known thief when he entered the store, and followed him on surveillance cameras.

They saw the man use a cutting tool to remove the packaging from a Bluetooth speaker, a wallet and a package of underwear, and put the merchandise into a computer bag. The man then went through the checkout line — paying for some other items, but not for these.

Police were waiting outside. One of them asked if he was carrying a knife, and he admitted he was. The man, a resident of Roaring Creek Road, was arrested. The stolen merchandise was valued at $93.

Nov. 12, 4:45 p.m.

An officer saw a 36-year old Arthur Drive man enter the city from the direction of Woodland, by way of the River Road. He recognized the man as the source of "numerous unfounded calls" regarding "people murdered in his home."

The officer followed the man for about ten blocks and saw him roll through a stop sign at Lisbon and Bryte avenues. The officer had intended to wait for backup, but when the subject pulled into Dobro Court, he initiated a traffic stop.

The officer then saw some shotgun shells on a car seat. A patsearch of the subject produced no further weapons. A second officer responded and determined the man was under the influence of a central nervous stimulant.

Obtaining consent to search the vehicle, police found a short-barreled shotgun "wedged between the seat and the floor,"

50 years later: remembering JFK

This Friday will be the 50th anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and I am reminded of the following column, penned exactly 20 years ago:

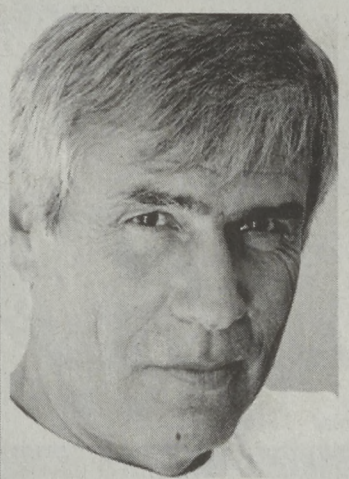

On a bright sunny day in late November, 1963, John Fitzgerald Kennedy stepped off Air Force One in Dallas, Texas, climbed into a limousine with the top down, and rode off into history.

I was seated in Mr. Maes' history class at James Marshall High School that afternoon. We had just returned from lunch and a radio had been turned on. "The best information we have at this moment," said an out-of-breath voice, "is that the president of the United States has indeed been shot...and we are being told that at least one of the bullets struck him in the head."

I was only 16 years old at the time and all I really knew about President Kennedy was that he was young, funnier than most politicians, and that my dad had shaken his hand once outside the old Southern Pacific Railroad shops when he had stopped to campaign there during the 1960 election.

"We are now being told that the President may have been mortally wounded," came the update over the radio, followed shortly by, "Ladies and gentleman...it's official...I regret to inform you that the President of the United States, John F. Kennedy, has been assassinated in Dallas, Texas." The girl seated next to me began to cry. "His wife was at his side when he died at approximately 1 p.m., Dallas time," sadly added the voice on the radio.

With the 30th anniversary of President Kennedy's assassination has come a deluge of television movies and documentaries. "Who Killed JFK?", "Where Were You?", and "Who Was Lee Harvey Oswald?" were just a few of the ones I spent some time watching.

Isn't there anything else on?" my oldest son asked me the other night.

"It's an important part of our country's history," I tried to explain, "and of my history, too, I guess."

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"I was just about your age when President Kennedy was assassinated and the whole country went into mourning. Even the people who didn't vote for him were angry that such a terrible thing could happen in America. It changed the way a lot of people thought about things. It somehow wasn't such a safe world anymore."

"Do they really know who killed him?"

"After 30 years, I guess it really doesn't matter."

"Do you think that Oswald guy was part of a conspiracy?"

"I don't know. I doubt it."

"What about the guy who killed Oswald? Why did he do that?"

As my conversation with my son went on, I realized that the assassination of JFK was just an interesting footnote in history to him, much like I guess Abraham Lincoln's assassination is to me. I wasn't alive when John Wilkes Booth strolled unnoticed into Ford's Theater and pulled the trigger, so I can never really know just how devastated the people of that era must have felt. But I was around in 1963, and the older I get, the more convinced I am that JFK's assassination was the first of a long series of bloody events which now finds Americans murdering each other at the incredible rate of 35,000 each year.

JFK was followed in death by Malcolm X, Martin Luther King, and Robert Kennedy. By the time the 1960's were over, senseless violence was an accepted part of American life, and things have only gotten worse. Now it's celebrated in our pop culture and you can hardly go to a movie or play a video game without a few dozen people getting blown away for the heck of it.

Someday it will change. Sooner or later, the good and decent people of this country will demand that something be done. Maybe our politicians will somehow find the courage to get rid of all these weapons -- or at least the worst of them, which belong on battlefields, not in neighborhoods. And maybe even Robert Kennedy's hope to "tame the savageness of men and make gentle the life of this world" will become more than just a pipe dream.

"Are you going to turn this part off again?" asked my son as that damn Zapruder film came on the T.V. screen for what seemed like the hundredth time this week.

There was the motorcade, slowly making its way into Dealey Plaza...Jack Kennedy, looking tanned and full of promise...Mrs. Kennedy, so pretty and poised...then their limousine turns and goes past the book depository...President Kennedy clutches his throat...

I clicked off the television set, looked at my son, and hoped that somehow his generation, unlike mine, will make it a priority to find a way to get Americans to stop blowing each others' brains out.

Note: As you can see below in this week's

The older I get, the more convinced I am that JFK's assassination was the first of a long series of bloody events which now finds Americans murdering each other at the incredible rate of 35,000 each year.

obituary section, longtime West Sacramento resident and teacher Edmund Lloyd has passed away. Mr. Lloyd was my 7th grade teacher and I am but one of many hundreds of local students who are extremely thankful for having spent time in one of his classrooms.

Mr. Lloyd took his calling very seriously and I can still remember how professionally he always dressed, often looking like he belonged in Cambridge, England, instead of West Sacramento, California. He was bright, witty, and always eager to pass along his vast knowledge to others, and his love of the most humanizing discipline of them all, history, is at the root of my own. He was also very clever when it came to understanding young people and especially good at catching students passing notes back and forth when they were supposed to be studying, including the one he took out of my mouth professing my undying love for a dark-haired beauty who sat a few rows away from me.

Over the years, Mr. Lloyd and I would bump into each other around town and I even painted his house for him awhile back. Although his health was often fragile, he was usually involved in some kind of local volunteer work and liked nothing better than to talk about his former students and the many years he spent in the classroom. He was also very proud of his daughters and was one of those rare people who had had a life well-lived and knew it.

Mr. Lloyd touched countless young lives in very positive ways and made his community a much better place to call home. And he will always be remembered fondly by those of us who were blessed to have had him for a teacher.

Godspeed, Mr. Lloyd.

Although the River City High School water polo program began from scratch only five years ago, it is now at its strongest with both boys' and girls' varsity teams making it into the San-Joaquin sections and being named Metro League Champions 2013-14.

In 2009, water polo was introduced to River City. There were hardly any players who participated and the few who did were often recruited from other sports.

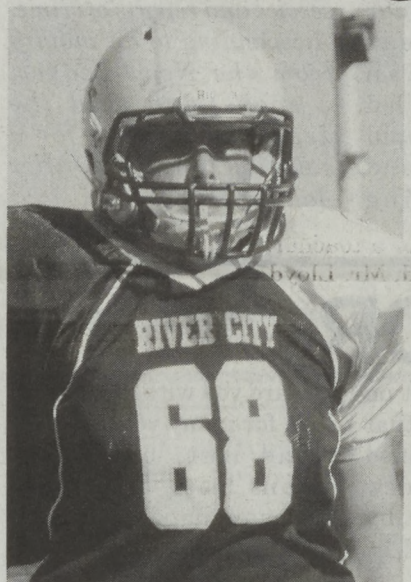

This year's varsity boys' team had eleven players and the varsity girls' team had thirteen. The sport has evolved over the years with great players coming and going as the years proceed. Both boys' and girls' teams are coached by Ryan Mosley, known by the players as "Coach Moe."

Sophomore Gabi Fabri describes him as "an inspiring motivator" who's "structured and disciplined."

The program has evolved from one team into three, and has also become year round. The teams attended local summer and winter tournaments. They qualified for Junior Olympics this past summer and traveled to southern California to play teams from all over the country.

The girls' team had a remarkable undefeated season this year. They made it to the first round of sections, but weren't able to move on after their loss of 8-11 against Christian

The boys' varsity team won their first round of sections against Oakmont High School with a score of 14-5, but they lost their second match against El Camino High School with a close score of 11-9.

Coach Mosley described the season as "surreal." "Five years ago we were losing to teams by 15 points, now we are league champs. I know how much hard work the players have put in."

Seniors who have been on the team since the beginning are feeling bittersweet as they climb out of the pool for last time.

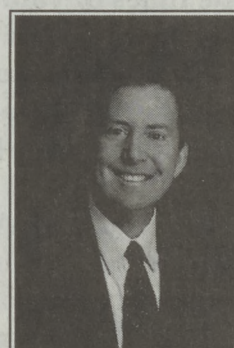

Captain of the boys' varsity team, Adam Rodgers, said, "I've played water polo all four years of high school, and it's depressing knowing it's my last year. But it's just the bridge between stepping up and playing at another level."

Nov. 14, 4:35 p.m.
Police responded to a shoplifting incident at a supermarket on the 1200-block of West Capitol. Loss prevention personnel at the store saw the man drinking a soda inside the store. The man then exited without paying for the drink. When confronted by store security, the man pushed his bike at the security guard, causing both of them to fall. The employee suffered a minor abrasion.

Although the suspect was gone before an officer responded, another West Sacramento police officer located him and brought him back to the scene, where he was ID'd as the suspect and arrested.

Nov. 15, 1:10 a.m.
A police officer checked the license plate on a car being driven on Merkley Avenue. The plate came back as belonging to a vehicle confirmed stolen in Chico. The officer pulled the 26-year old Sacramento man over. "The driver immediately raised his hands," reported the officer.

Nov. 15, 6:02 p.m.
A homeless man reported his bike had been vandalized at the library on Merkley Avenue.

Nov. 15, 9:07 p.m.
A shoplifter brandished a knife as he tried to leave a Riverpoint Court store with some property (it appears the suspect fled, but without the goods).

Nov. 16, 1:16 a.m.
A citizen flagged down an officer near Jefferson Blvd. and 15th Street, regarding a man sleeping behind the wheel of a white van nearby. The officer checked out the license plate, finding that the van had been reported stolen from a rental company in Sacramento.

The officer read the driver (a 24-year old Roseville man) his rights, and the man declined to talk.

During a search, police found a baggie in a compartment under the van's stereo with a "large amount" of crystal-like substance.

The substance later tested positive as 26.8 grams of methamphetamine. The driver went to jail.

Nov. 16, 5:25 p.m.
An officer contacted a 42-year old 6th Street man in front of city hall on West Capitol. The man admitted having used methamphetamine earlier in the day, and was on probation for drug offenses. He was detained for being under the influence of a central nervous stimulant, and went to jail.

Nov. 16, 10:58 p.m.
A "suspicious person" was reported on Fremont Boulevard. A responding officer contacted a 27-year old Oregon woman displaying "uncontrolled bodily movements, rapid incoherent speech, and (who) was sweating profusely for the ambient temperature (48 degrees)."

The woman "admitted using meth three days earlier, and not having slept in five days. When asked if she was feeling the effects of the meth, (she) stated she did not know."

The woman was arrested for being under the influence of the drug.

Nov. 17, 5:31 a.m.
An officer responded to the 600-block of West Capitol Avenue regarding a man "trying to get into" somebody's trailer.

The officer contacted the suspect, a 28-year old from Carmichael.

In summary, he told the officer:

"I had six beers tonight and I didn't realize the owner didn't want me to come inside. I guess I'm too drunk."

He went to jail.

Nov. 17, 8:50 p.m.
A Pecan Street woman reported that her ex-boyfriend had violated a restraining order by phoning her.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The West Sacramento Police Department is undergoing a transition in its data management. Because of this, we currently have access to many of the department's arrest reports, but not to the logs of calls for service and reports of crime. Responding to an inquiry from the News-Ledger, a spokesman said the department hopes for a solution sometime after January 1.

November is "Adopt a Senior Pet" month. In cat adoptions, at the Yolo County Animal Shelter there are several sweet seniors waiting for you. Princess (10 yr. old tri tabby with white) and Buddy (8 yrs handsome tuxedo boy) came to the shelter when their owner died. Their lives have been turned upside down and they only want what they had before - a loving home with a sunny spot just their own. They do not have to be adopted together. Pumpkin (calico mix) and Annie (tortie) both 5 years old, really love holding and petting. Adopt one of these beautiful girls and they will reward you with loyalty and love for many years.

And last, but by no means least, are four of the most handsome, most affectionate boys you will ever meet. Offer Blue (6 yrs blue point Himalayan) your hand and he will not stop rubbing and rolling over. He lives for attention. Daniel (5yrs,male tabby) and Six Toes (6yrs,tabby poly dactyl) are big boys who love a lap. While they do enjoy batting around the occasional ping pong ball, they are most focused on the comfy life - sitting on laps, treats, petting and a soft bed. Gary (orange tabby) is only 2 yrs old but he too appreciates a quiet lap with lots of attention.

Read more of the story of each of these fabulous felines on Petfinder.com or visit them at the Yolo County Animal Shelter, 2640 E. Gibson Rd, Woodland (916 375 6492) All senior cats are $5.00 to adopt.

Saturday: giveaway day

The Yolo County Children's Alliance will host its annual "West Sacramento Community Giveaway Day" on Saturday, November 23, between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. at Westfield Village Elementary School, 508 Poplar Avenue.

The Children's Alliance and community partners will provide about 400 low-income families with free food (a Thanksgiving dinner), clothing, blankets, jackets, baby items, and toys for the kids.

To help avoid long lines, the Children's Alliance has preregistered more than 300 families for the community give-away. As supplies last, unregistered families will be served beginning at 10 a.m. Once the food and other items are gone, families will be referred to other agencies that can provide help.

"Approximately 2400 Yolo County children live at or below the poverty level, said Katie Villegas, executive director of the alliance, in a press release. "Many children begin each school year without essential items such as healthy food, warm clothing or suitable shoes. The West

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"The Wolverine" (PG-13)
-- Hugh Jackman's growly superhero gets another solo adventure -- this time he's off to Japan to settle old scores and fight ninjas. The story begins after "X-Men III," with Wolverine getting some alone time in the wilderness to grieve the loss of Jean Grey in the last movie. Wolverine is summoned to Japan under mysterious circumstances. Before long, there is a sultry woman (Tao Okamoto) asking for Wolverine's protection while plots thicken and arrows fly.

This adventure requires more emotional weight from Jackman's Wolverine -- he's recovering from heartbreak while he's a stranger in a strange land. There also is all of the hard-to-follow comic-book stuff going on, like the reptilian lady who shows up to steal Wolverine's healing power. In the end, the Wolverine has enough action and enough style to warrant a rental from anyone who had fun at the "X-Men" movies.

"Good Ol' Freda" (PG) -- The Beatles were a band for 10 years, yet Freda Kelly of Liverpool was their secretary for 11 years. She's kept quiet for a long time -- no juicy tell-all book, no scathing interviews -- and now she shares her story in this documentary. Kelly's not out to reveal scandalous details or suggest any romance she may have had with any of the musicians, she says, "that's private." Instead, it's a cozy, endearing account from a grandmother who spent her youth working for the hardest-working band of the '60s.

"The Smurfs 2" (PG) -- The little blue peasants of Smurf Village make another excursion into the world of live-action people -- yielding few laughs and a lot of irritation. The evil wizard, Gargamel (Hank Azaria), has the usual plan of kidnapping a smurf so he can harvest whatever it is that he wants from them. Smurfette (voiced by pop star Katy Perry) is taken prisoner by some gray anti-smurfs created by Gargamel. Expect 90 minutes of joyless slapstick and the word "Smurf" wedged into every phrase.

DOG OF THE WEEK

"The Mortal Instruments: City of Bones" (PG-13) -- Soon on DVD: Another Young-Adult snoozefest with all of the supernatural romance, boring love triangles, hunky dudes with exposed chests, pointlessly complicated rules and, of course -- vampires and werewolves. Clary (Lily Collins) is a boring, conventionally pretty-but-not-too-glam Brooklyn girl. She learns she's part of a clan of demon hunters who are invisible to normal humans. The film explains every

With her daughters happily married and a newly empty nest, Sookie is looking forward to having some quiet time to herself -- until her world is rocked by the revelation that she was adopted. For all her 60 years, Sookie has had a complicated relationship with her dominating and overbearing mother, a woman obsessed with heritage and status. Finding out that they're not actually related throws Sookie for an emotional loop, as well as into confusion about her rightful place in their traditional Southern society. Unable to resist her curiosity, she begins to delve cautiously into her own past, and is introduced to a family of dreamers and daredevils with whom she has far more in common than she could ever have guessed. Learning about their lives gives her a new lens through which to evaluate her impact on the world, and may even give her the courage to finally step out of her mother's shadow and into the sun.

This humorous, easygoing novel is a smooth read, constructed as a series of connected vignettes that roll gently back and forth nuance of every scene for the audience. The film asks us, the audience, to care about a love triangle where Clary must choose between her nerdy male friend (who has no powers) and the muscular, blond, half-angel who introduced her to the magic world. Movies like these must be part of some plot to keep young adults from picking up books.

GRAVY RESCUE TIPS

If the gravy is lumpy, pour it through a strainer into a new pan and bring it to a simmer, stirring gently. If it's too thin, mix a tablespoon of melted butter with a tablespoon of flour. Bring the gravy up to a boil and whisk in the butter mixture to thicken your gravy. If the gravy is too thick, add a little more chicken broth, pan drippings or a little water and butter to thin it out.

BURNT OFFERINGS

If the turkey begins to burn while it's roasting, flip the bird over immediately and continue to cook it. After the turkey is done, you can remove and discard any blackened skin and about half an inch of the meat below any burnt area. Slice the remaining breast meat, arrange it on a platter and ladle gravy over it. If your vegetables or gravy burn on the bottom, carefully remove the layer that isn't burned into another pot or serving dish. DON'T SCRAPE THE BOTTOM OF THE PAN.

If the dinner rolls are burned on the bottom, just cut off as much as you can, butter them, and fold them in half to cover the missing ends.

Whipped cream is the perfect "make-up" for desserts that aren't quite up to par. You can cut the top layer off a burnt pie and cover it with whipped cream.

Hopefully, these tips will rescue you from any Thanksgiving Day disasters, but remember, it's about gathering together to give thanks with the people you love -- not the perfect meal! Have a blessed Thanksgiving!

Don't Let Mishaps Ruin Thanksgiving Dinner

After almost 35 years of cooking, I've had my share of Thanksgiving Day disasters! Here are some secrets to saving your sanity and your Thanksgiving dinner:

HOW TO DEFROST A TURKEY

You'll need at least 24 to 48 hours (about five hours per pound) to thaw a frozen turkey in the refrigerator. If you need to do a quick thaw, place the wrapped, frozen turkey in your kitchen sink or a large container like an ice chest. Cover the turkey with cold water. Drain and refill the water every half-hour because as the bird thaws out, the water will get warmer. Using this method, the turkey will thaw at the rate of about a half-hour for each pound.

PREPARING THE BIRD FOR COOKING

Remove the giblet package (neck, livers, heart and gizzards) from inside the cavity of the bird AND check the neck cavity. Some manufacturers place the giblet package in the neck cavity and others place it inside the cavity closest to the legs. Most turkeys come with the legs already trussed (crossed and secured with a metal or plastic bracket). If you're not going to stuff your bird, there's no need to truss the legs. Trussing an unstuffed bird hinders the hot oven air from circulating inside and around the legs. This means that the dark meat will take longer to cook and the breast meat will cook faster and probably dry out before the legs ever get completely done.

THE TURKEY ISN'T DONE

Don't rely on the "pop-up" timer in the turkey, as it usually means that the breast is overcooked and the dark meat isn't done. If the dark meat isn't done, remove the wings and breast meat from the rest of the turkey, in one piece, if possible. Cover the breast and wing portion with foil and set it aside. Put the drumsticks and thigh portion of the turkey back into the oven to continue cooking until done. You can re-assemble the whole turkey and garnish it, or just cut it into serving portions and arrange it on a platter.

STUFFING SAVERS

If the stuffing/dressing is too wet, spread it out in a thin layer on a sheet pan so that it will dry quickly. Place it back into the oven for 5 to 7 minutes.

If it's too dry, add more pan drippings or chicken broth to the mixture. If you don't have anymore drippings or broth, you can combine a chicken bouillon cube (if you have one), along with a teaspoon of poultry seasoning, three tablespoons of butter and 1 cup of water. Cook the mixture in the microwave for 3 to 5 minutes or until it comes to a boil. Stir to combine and then add it, a little at a time, to the dressing until it's moist.

SOUPY MASHED POTATOES

ship with her dominating and overbearing mother, a woman obsessed with heritage and status. Finding out that they're not actually related throws Sookie for an emotional loop, as well as into confusion about her rightful place in their traditional Southern society.

Unable to resist her curiosity, she begins to delve cautiously into her own past, and is introduced to a family of dreamers and daredevils with whom she has far more in common than she could ever have guessed. Learning about their lives gives her a new lens through which to evaluate her impact on the world, and may even give her the courage to finally step out of her mother's shadow and into the sun.

This humorous, easygoing novel is a smooth read, constructed as a series of connected vignettes that roll gently back and forth through the decades between Sookie's quest and her birth family's saga. Some of the most fascinating tales concern the little-known history of the WASPs, or Women Air Force Service Pilots, who provided homefront support to the Army Air Force during World War II. These admirable women performed their dangerous jobs in the face of rampant sexism for little recognition, knocking down barriers for all who came after.

Likewise, the "all-girl filling station" of the title is a wartime phenomenon, active only for a relatively short time during the century-long scope of this novel, but looming large in the story of this indomitable family. For each generation, it's a symbol of fortitude under adversity, and of having the courage to defy convention and meet life with open arms.

GO FIGURE!

by Linda Thistle

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (714) 573-1965 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.PRIORITYPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 1377146-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insureance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case 13-0009194. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.
